THE DOLLAR DINNER.

Judge Tarvin's Masterly Effort on "The Power of Organized Wealth," Took the Manhattanites By Storm.
Vociferously Applauded
Throughout its Delivery and a Rising Demonstration At its Close.

The dollar banquet given in New York Saturday night was a success greater than had been hoped for by the most sanguine. Speeches were delivered by Hon. William Jennings Bryan, Congressman Charles F. Towne, Hon. George Fred Williams, Official, Belmont and Judge James P. Tarvin, of this city.

It is a matter of gratification to the thousands of friends of Judge Tarvin in Kentucky and adjoining states to know that the effort of that brilliant orator was received with enthusiasm greater than that of any speech delivered, excepting possibly, that of Mr.
Bryan. Judge Tarvin's speech was lengthy, and he was interrupted time and again by the applause of the three thousand men and women present, and at the conclusion of his talk, the immense assemblage sprang to their feet and called for him to go on. It was five minutes before the tumult was quieted. Mayor Rhinock, who was present, was handed the following note:

"We owe you a million thanks for bringing that man here."

"THANKS TO J. B. BREWSTER."

More than a century ago, the men of the North and of the South made this Union. Nearly forty years ago, the men of the North went to battle against those of the South, to save this Union. And to-day, the patriots and true Americans of the North must look to the men of the South to make this Union worth the saving.

A brief reference to history for the last few years will readily demonstrate the growth and sources of power and the extent of the power of the Organized Wealth of the United States. At the close of the civil war, the number and tenacity of the people North and South were given to the re-establishment of their homes and the recuperation of their fortunes. All conditions therefor existing were affected, and the country was in a state of confusion and disorder, and withal for years after the close of the war a large minority in the National Congress was made up of those not elected by any constituent, but dictated by those in power at the seat of the federal government. The close of that war found the national government burdened for the first time with a debt of enormous proportions, amounting, on March 1st, 1865, to nearly three billions of dollars. This indebtedness was evidenced by bonds, and these bonds were held mainly by the representatives of capital in the East.

Circumstances were propitious. The President and the Congress were subject to influence. The refunding notes were passed, by which the life of the bonds were extended again and again, and the payment of the national debt correspondingly deferred. Then were enacted the law providing that these bonds and the interest thereon should be paid in coin. They were purchased with greenbacks worth on an average, considering all the bonds, about 50 cents on the dollar in coin; the result being that by legislation it was provided that the people should pay to the bondholders two dollars for every dollar loaned to the people in order to carry on the war, besides paying the interest likewise in coin.

Familiarity in controlling legislation emboldened the representatives of Organized Wealth and a bright vista opened before it. It became a matter of importance to realize that the national administration and it became the fixed purpose of Organized Wealth to procure legislation favorable to it, favorable to money, and therefore hostile to everything else, and as time passed on the force of this great power

Half Sick
Half Well

Many persons have their good day and their bad day. Others are about half sick all the time.
They have indigestion, and are restless and nervous.
Food does not taste good, and the digestion is poor; the skin is dry and scaly and disfigured with pimples or eruptions; sleep brings no rest and work is a burden.

What is the cause of all this?
Impure blood.
And the remedy?

SAN-SANAPARILLA

It clears out the channels through which poisons are carried from the body. When all impurities are removed from the blood nature takes right hold and completes the cure.

If there is constipation, take Ayer's Pills. They awaken the drowsy action of the liver; they cure biliousness.

Who is our Doctor?

We have no exclusive reliance on any one of our remedies. We use all the best of them. We use S. S. S. for the blood, and Ayer's Pills for the bowels, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the nerves. We use all of them together, and we cure all diseases.
Address, Dr. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Mass.

was such that, in the indifference or attention of the people at large, national administration became the more machines of those who sought the concentration of money and the increase in its value at the cost and expense of labor.

And in 1873 there was enacted the law demoralizing silver. By that law one-half of the money of the country was taken away by legislation, the other half remained. The demand increasing the supply not increasing, the value of that half that remained necessarily increased in value; that is to say, became more in products and in labor.

TWO CLASSES AND THEIR AIMS.

There then existed two distinct and well defined classes in the country—one class whose capital in life consisted of money, and one class whose capital in life consisted of labor. The object constantly in view of the first class was to increase, by process of legislation, the value of the capital of the first class, at the cost and loss of the value of the capital of the second class.

As a result of the refunding act, the acts making the bonds payable in coin and the act demoralizing silver, it has come to pass that after the lapse of thirty-four years, and after the payment by the people of an amount almost beyond expression, on the principal and interest of these bonds, the public debt remains today as great as it was on March 1st, 1865; that is to say, because of the increase in value of money by legislation, and the decrease in value of labor and the fruits of labor by legislation, it will require as much labor or as much of the fruits of labor to pay that debt to-day as it would have required to pay the debt in 1865, although the principal of the debt has been reduced in figures to less than one billion dollars.

Wealth is the creature of labor. The gold, the silver or the paper dollar, coin or fiat, that represent human labor represented by the dollar. A concentration of wealth is the concentration of the fruits of labor. The concentration of wealth by legislation means the concentration of the fruits of human labor by legislation; it means that, by process of law, the fruits of those who labor are taken from them and given to others.
It means that wealth controls and regulates labor; that the creature controls and regulates the creator. The wealth which exists only by reason of the sweat and blood of labor is by process of law turned upon to control and to regulate that which, only, which brought it into being.

THE CORPORATION CRUSHING IN-DIVIDUAL.

In the period since the war, there having been enacted general corporation laws, and under the provisions of these laws corporations have been organized throughout the land to carry on all kinds and departments of business.
These monstrous corporations have been in competition with individual and partnership effort. The corporation has had greater use of capital than the individual could have. The corporation has had perfect succession, so that death did not interfere with its business or its progress. It has been so provided that the private property of those composing the corporations has been made wholly or partly exempt from liability for corporate debts.

The inevitable result has been that the Corporation has destroyed its competitor, the individual, and gradually forced him to retire from the field of business, and to become a servant of the Corporation or to become a tramp.
The Corporation grew and prospered and waxed exceeding great, while the individual descended from the part of master to that of servant. The creature of legislation drove out the creature of God. Organized Wealth being the master of legislation, became the master of the individual.

TRUSTS CONTROLLING THE NATION.

The organization and operation of trusts was a natural result. The trust simply means the further concentration and combination of wealth. The trust simply means the perfection of organized wealth. The trust is the perfected form of the corporation, and is in every department of business increased by means of large capital and less operating expense to undersell and drive out all individual competition.
In doing that it becomes the only purchaser from the producer; being the only purchaser, it can dictate the price the consumer must pay. It is the owner of the producer and the owner of the consumer, and upon its will becomes dependent the welfare, the comfort and the happiness of every individual in the nation not of the elect of wealth; that is to say, of not less than 98 per cent of the men, women and children of the country.

All men are born free and equal. This means that by a natural law all men are entitled to the chance to do the best they can. All men are entitled to make the best they can of their mental and physical abilities, and to be rewarded therefor. The trust, however, has been burdened by artificial conditions created by legislation and the condition of freedom and equality as thus defined, is destroyed by human legislation, and when man is thereby more greatly burdened than another, a natural law has been violated, and it is inevitable the case, a certain and heavy penalty ensues. And in this instance the penalty for the violation of the natural law is borne by those who are the creators of the instrument which inflicts their sufferings upon them.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

Gov. ED BROWN WRITES UP MILL GROVE,
CALLEST AND SCAY.

MILL GROVE is located at the intersection of the Lawrence and Kirkeville pikes, seven miles from this city, and occupies an elevated situation, with pretty scenery around. One of the industries of this little town is a first-class blacksmith shop operated by Mr. Manister. The old Moran homestead, one of the oldest brick houses in this section is located here, and near here on Silver Creek is the old Moran water grist mill. This place is the former home of Squire Ed Lester, deceased, who was well known in this section.
Some of the principal citizens here are
R. D. Brown, who resides at the late Moran home. Joseph James, James
Rosenfeld, Mr. Huggins, Dr. Humphrey
Bennett and Mr. Jennings. The old manor being a son of one of the oldest families in the county, the Barnes family. His grand father, Ed Barnes, died at the old age of over 90 years. Robert is an elder in the Christian church at Kirkville and is a hospitable gentleman, the writer having on several occasions, enjoyed the hospitality of his cousin family. Dr. Bennett, who is a first cousin of Hon. James B. McCreary, is a graduate of Bethany, Va., an accomplished gentleman and is one of the best read men in this section. He is the only man on the road between Richmond and Danville, who still lives at the same place where he was born and raised.

CALLEST is located on the Lawrence pike, five miles from the city, in a beautiful situation, commanding a view of excellent scenery in every direction. The surrounding country is very productive. This town has a general store, conducted by Mr. Beasley.
Some of the principal farmers are Win-
ford, James Hunter, Leslie Ballard, Stone Hunter, Milton Covington, Hugh Samuels and Chas. Turner, who was at one time the richest man in that section. He is a grand son of Hon. Spire Turner, who represented the county in the Constitutional Convention of 1852.
Mr. Robert, the principal hotelier, represents the county in the State Legislature. Near this place is the site of Millford, better known as Old Town, which was once our county seat before it was moved to Richmond. Every one in the county has heard of this site. The fight between Kelley and Kennedy over the moving. Kelley, the advocate of Richmond, gave his subsequent a sound thrashing and Richmond was victorious. It was well that it was moved as Millford was not a good locality for a large town as the present county seat. Near this place were the homes of the Martins and Gentrys who emigrated from Old Virginia in 1785. Mr. Gentry was an old revolutionary soldier and was the progenitor of the numerous Gentry family and kindred in the United States.
The old home, a brick building erected in 1805, is still standing, and very much dilapidated, and those walls which once echoed to the sound of dance, song and mirth are now as still and silent as the grave, and it indeed resembles a haunted house. The old family burying ground is also neglected, and only a plain marble slab, with letters hardly discernable marks the last resting place of the noted old soldier and one of Madison's pioneers. It seems but a short time since that descendants and relatives should erect a substantial monument to mark the grave of the old hero; it would be a mere trifling for each one, so let them start a monument fund to redress his name and memory from oblivion.
Major John H. Harris, one of his descendants, owned the old home and indeed greater part of the original Gentry farm. Mr. Martin owns a large group of the remains of the Gentry family field at Crab Orchard last summer. A great many from this county attended Mr. Gentry in his young days was a great hunter. He used to hear the echoing horn and the barking and wel-ling of the hounds in full chase, was like music to his ear.

Rest on a nice and numerous offering.
Sleep on forever in that narrow cell;
No more for thee the sun and moon
Or the dews of the changing hours.
Rest on in our sacred ground,
For there is no nobler grave
Even in Madison's own proud clime.

Fecky is located on the I. & N railroad eight miles from Richmond
It has a good brick school house and two stores. The merchants are Perry Monley, R. H. Potts and Elbert Harrington, better known as Jubo, on account of his large size. Some of the principal citizens are John Turley, Dr.
W. J. Hockaday, James Branton,
James Adams and Major Harris. Mr.
Branton is from Old Virginia and is a battle-scarred veteran who fought for the lost cause. He is somewhat ecentric, but knows a good thing when he sees it. He lives on Cedar Cliff and near his lovely home is an old Indian grave yard, where, forever sleeps many of the brave dead men, who made the Welkin ring with their whoops.
Mr. Harris lives at Byethwood and has an elegant country home, which is a beautiful mansion. The grounds are beautiful with many large shade trees.
This was the home of his father-in-law, Buck Rhytle. The Major is the richest and most important farmer of that section.
He graduated at Bethany College and is one of the well known men of the county. The section named in this article is one of the best in the county for beauty of scenery, substantiality of the people and richness of the land.

Gov. ED BROWN WRITES UP MILL GROVE,
CALLEST AND SCAY.

tersection of the Lawrence and Kirke-
ville pikes, seven miles from this city,
first-class blacksmith shop operated by
Mr. Manister. The old Moran homestead, one of the oldest brick houses in this section is located here, and near
here on Silver Creek is the old Moran
mer home of Squire Ed Lester, deceased,
who was well known in this section.
Some of the principal citizens here are
R. D. Brown, who resides at the late
Moran home. Joseph James, James
Rosenfeld, Mr. Huggins, Dr. Humphrey
families in the county, the Barnes family. His grand father, Ed Barnes, died
is an elder in the Christian church at
casions, enjoyed the hospitality of his cousin family. Dr. Bennett, who is a first cousin of Hon. James B. McCreary,
the only man on the road between Richmond and Danville, who still lives
and raised.

view of excellent scenery in every di-
very productive. This town has a general store, conducted by Mr. Beasley.
Some of the principal farmers are Win-
ford, James Hunter, Leslie Ballard, Stone Hunter, Milton Covington, Hugh
Samuels and Chas. Turner, who was at
the Constitutional Convention of 1852.
Mr. Robert, the principal hotelier,
represents the county in the State
of Millford, better known as Old Town,
site. The fight between Kelley and
advocate of Richmond, gave his sub-
mond was victorious. It was well
were the homes of the Martins and Gentrys who emigrated from Old Vir-
revolutionary soldier and was the pro-
ily and kindred in the United States.
and only a plain marble slab, with let-
name and memory from oblivion.
Major John H. Harris, one of his descendants, owned the old home and indeed greater part of the original Gentry
farm. Mr. Martin owns a large group
great many from this county attended
Mr. Gentry in his young days was a great hunter. He used to hear the
like music to his ear.

Sleep on forever in that narrow cell;
No more for thee the sun and moon
Or the dews of the changing hours.
Rest on in our sacred ground,
Even in Madison's own proud clime.

railroad eight miles from Richmond
count of his large size. Some of the principal citizens are John Turley, Dr.
W. J. Hockaday, James Branton,
James Adams and Major Harris. Mr.
Branton is from Old Virginia and is a
the Welkin ring with their whoops.
Mr. Harris lives at Byethwood and
beautiful with many large shade trees.
This was the home of his father-in-law,
and most important farmer of that section.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

We are authorized to announce W. W. COOK, a candidate to succeed himself in the next general assembly of the State of Kentucky—subject to the will of the Democratic Party.

FOR COUNTY CLERK.

We are authorized to announce A. KAYNAWILL, of Madison county, a candidate for the office of County Clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic Party.

JOHN TAYLOR here May 1.

MR. QUAY favors the election of Senators by the Governors.

It required a Republican Governor to appoint to the U. S. Senate a man who was working over time to escape the penitentiary.

If Gas Richardson gets the nomination for Treasurer, Gas County will not be Auditor. Two Bills may possibly pass through, but two Guses never—Owens Herald.

DR. W. SMITH has revived the Louisville Critic and is jumping on everybody in general, announcing that he wears no man's collar. If he keeps up the present gain he will do well; he is able to wear a shirt.

THE esteemed Owens Herald would reach its destination and be more presentable if it were not wrapped like a stick of candy. Fifty other exchangers come all right without their liver being squeezed out by the strong-armed mailer.

BYRON read no one out of the Democratic party when he said that only those who supported the Chicago platform should be members of the party. The former is the only of the Chicago platform until appointed next year, and those who rejected it took themselves out of the party. They left the party when they bolted its platform and platform and put McKinley where they voted would have placed Bryan. Mr. Bryan very properly proposes that these erring brothers promise to abide by the action of the next convention to receive a warm welcome. But they ought not to demand to be allowed to dissent to the majority. Is that not correct?

THE stormiest convention the Republicans have held in Kentucky in many years was the Second National district convention held in Louisville last week. Its object was to nominate a candidate for Railroad Commissioner, but it resolved itself into a fight between the present machine, backed by the Federal Administration on the one side, and the anti-McKinley leaders, backed by the State Administration, on the other. The latter were known as the forces of ex-Mayor Todd, of Louisville, on the other. Gov. Bradley was in the convention as a delegate and made a fight to have seated the seventy-three Todd delegates from Louisville who contested the seats of the Union House delegation.

In speech Bradley excoriated certain Administration Republicans who, he said, had stabbed him in the back, and he charged the convention with stifling the will of the people. The majority's will was defeated and the Union House delegation, he left the convention hall.

Capt. H. S. Irwin, of Louisville, the present Railroad Commissioner for this district, was renominated by acclamation.

The significance of the result of the convention is the probability of a strong anti-McKinley organization in the State.

WILL our exchanges kindly clip this item and print in their papers?

Judge J. P. Tarvin, President of the Ohio Valley League of Democratic Clubs, will speak at Richmond on county court day, Monday, May 1, at 2 p. m. His object is to arouse interest in the biennial convention to be held at Louisville May 31, to which he wishes every county to send representatives.

SENATOR QUAY was acquitted by a jury of his peers of the charge of bribery, but only after much evidence had been ruled out. When a man's character is shielded by the statute of limitation then honest men may blush to own their Senators. But Pennsylvania's Governor was first to approve the finding by appointing Mr. Quay to the seat rendered vacant by the failure of the Legislature to elect his successor. Thus vice perpetuates itself.

THE name of Auditor Samuel Hanson Stone is mentioned in connection with the Republican nomination for Governor. We hope he will allow his name to go before the convention, and let the people of Kentucky judge what manner of man the Republicans favor for their leader, whether Stone, an educated gentleman of whom all parties would be proud, or Taylor, the effeminate demagogue that would drag the gubernatorial chair like a bull in a china closet.

FAMOUS!
JUDGE TARVIN FOUND HIMSELF AFTER HIS SPEECH.

Printed Elsewhere in the Climax.
[Lexington Herald.]

Our Kentucky friend, Judge Tarvin, carried off the honors next to Mr. Bryan and sat down after his speech to find himself famous.

It was an oration, earnest, enthusiastic and full of meaning. And his speech met the fervid approval of his delighted hearers. It was of that nature which is destined to live in the memory of many a man in the years of the world.

The student of human nature and human history is familiar with many just speeches delivered to excite thousands in Judea, Athens, Rome, Paris and America. It is the passionate utterance of the reformer against organized power, against recognized force against existing conditions; in favor of change, of some new and vaguely defined conditions. It appeals to all who desire change; to all who have any grievance, or bear burdens, or with whom life has been hard. And life is hard with so many of us; we stagger forward under so many burdens; we carry so much unnecessary weight; that we respond with full heart to such appeals.

And there is much truth and justice in the arguments he makes against organized wealth. Corporations have combined into trusts—franchises have been recklessly and corruptly bartered away; long years of legislation have made the rich richer and the poor poorer. It was a National misfortune that the Supreme Court decided the income tax law unconstitutional and that this reversal of its previous decision was by such a division among the justices and under such peculiar circumstances. And, therefore, his hearers felt that the arrangement was at least in part just, and they responded to the appeals for redress.

Every editor has received these little cards. The postmaster sends them to the editor. The postmaster is not to blame. For instance, there was a man by the name of—well say, Tim Spriggins, who sent us three notices to stop his paper; he didn't want it any longer. We wondered what was the matter. Upon examining the subscription book we found Tim short $10. He had never paid a cent and yet he stopped his paper as a matter of economy for us. We didn't want to lose any more by him. A few days afterwards Spriggins was at church and his melodious tenor rang out loud and clear in the stirring song "Jesus Paid It All." We might have been mistaken, but his earnestness impressed us. So the next day we sent him a receipt in full, begging his pardon for not knowing that he had made an assignment of his liabilities to the Lord—Murray Ledger.

The sale of Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company has been completed and the property turned over to the purchasers, sensibly W. H. Butler and the Union Tobacco Company, though it is believed the American Tobacco Company is the real purchaser. The consideration is $12,500,000.

And order for 45 locomotives from the government of India has been received by the Baldwin Locomotive Works, which has just finished the first locomotives of the 20 recently ordered by the Midland Railway Company, of England.

John Pedro, who was burned by the explosion of a lamp at the home of Mrs. Rufus Lisle at Lexington, died from the effects of his injuries.

Dr. McCormack, of the State Board of Health, says there are eight well-developed cases of small pox at Lebanon Junction.

"There is so much trouble coming into the world," said a philosopher, "that it is hardly worth while to live here at all." If a man and a philosopher comes to this conclusion, what must be the natural conclusion of the thousands of suffering women who undergo untold trouble in bringing their babies into the world?

Philosophy of this kind is based upon gross ignorance. The fact is, that there is nothing so easy as to be a mother. A woman in strong and healthy in a womanly way, motherhood means to her but little suffering. The trouble lies in the fact that the majority of women suffer from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organization and are unfitted for motherhood.

This can always be remedied. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a safe, speedy and permanent cure for all disorders of this description. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned, making them healthy, strong, vigorous, virile and elastic. It banishes the indispositions of the period of expectancy and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It quickens and vitalizes the feminine system, insures a healthy and robust baby. Thousands of women have testified to its marvellous merits. Honest druggists do not offer substitutes and urge them upon you as "just as good."

"I suffered fourteen years," writes Mrs. Mary J. Stewart, of Box Springs, Ga., "from female weakness, nervousness and general debility. I tried everything to no avail. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' cured me."

The names, addresses and photographs of hundreds of women cured by Dr. Pierce's medicine are printed by permission in the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It is free. For a paper-covered copy send 2 one-cent stamps to cover mailing only. French cloth binding is stamped. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Every woman needs a great medical book. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser fills this want. Contains over 1000 pages and nearly 300 illustrations.
